DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Romano [U.S. 5,705,992].

For claim 1, the warning device taught by Romano includes the following claimed subject matter, as noted, 1) the claimed portable housing is met by the housing unit (No. 20), 2) the claimed recording device is met by the recording microphone (No. 72) and speaker members (Nos. 68, 69, and 70), 3) the claimed connector is met by the plug-in power component (No. 110) adapted to fit within a vehicle socket, and 4) the claimed switching device is met by the automatic On/Off switch (No. 98) coupled to the recording device and connector wherein the switching device provides a signal to the recording device indicative of an ignition state and plays back a prerecorded message in response to the signal (Col. 4, Lns. 45-52).

For claim 2, the device of Romano includes speakers (Nos. 68 and 70).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 2636

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Romano in view of Drori [U.S. 6,028,505].

For claims 3 and 4, the device taught by Romano includes the claimed subject matter as discussed in the rejection of claim 1 above. However, there is no mention of a normally closed relay.

Relays, both open and closed, have been used as switches for some time. The vehicle security system of Drori uses normally closed relays in its multifunction vehicle security system, which is connected to a control unit and processes received information and enables various functions. This reference is plain evidence that relays have been used as switches for some time not only in electronic devices but devices used on automobile security systems.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include closed relays in the system of Romano for the purpose of using a well-known and common switch apparatus.

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Paschal [U.S. 4,755,789] gives an audible message to remind an occupant to fasten their seat belt.

Apfel [U.S. 4,987,403] delivers audible messages to vehicle occupants.

Nicol et al [U.S. 5,293,155] uses normally closed relays in its audible warning system.

Thompson, III [U.S. 6,111,963] plays back reminders of proper conduct.
